City commits funds to EMU campus study

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, East Lansing and Romulus.

While it may be a bit premature to label Romulus as a college town just yet, it does seem likely that Eastern Michigan University will build a multi-branch campus in the city.

At a special council meeting last Tuesday, members of the While McCloud expressed dismay over any delays, saying that "our president is behind this project, but I need to report to him soon on what's going on, on where we stand. If we can't do this study in partnership with the city, we'll do it

"Even though we can't pass a resolution tonight (Tuesday), I believe we as a council are totally behind the project and foresee no problems."

city council met with representatives of EMU and discussed plans for the project, tentatively called University Park.

Dr. George McCloud, dean of graduate studies at the university, told the three council members in attendance that the proposed Romulus campus would specialize in "certain select programming."

"We have a language and national trade course that is often referred to as the model program of its type in the country," McCloud said, adding "the global community is here already, and we feel this type of thing will continue to grow as the world becomes smaller, so to speak."

The only three council members in attendance were Mayor Pro-Tem Mary Ann Banks, Fred Block and Pete Bergeron.

Council voted Monday to approve Romulus' participation in a joint demand assessment ourselves, but it would be sharply reduced."

Block voiced an opinion that "you've got three people here who took the time and showed enough interest to be here... I think if we three make a recommendation to the others, rather than go through this all again, that they will go along with us and agree to enter into a contract with the university."

According to a report, the Eastern Michigan International Campus Training Center Concept considers Romulus a prime site because of its easy access to freeways and the airport, as well as the growing number of hotels.

The center's mission will be to provide a wide array of educational services to business, industry and the community, including local industry — specific seminars, courses and certificate programs, workshops, hardware and software training for an educational facility. In doing so, they passed a resolution, which reallocated $25,000 in Community Development Block Grant funds, which were earmarked for hotel feasibility studies to the study.

"At the time we allocated these funds for hotel feasibility studies, we were unaware that the hotels do their own studies," said Mayor Beverly McAnally.

Councilman Bergeron said: "I think the mayor's willingness to go and meet with officials of the university as she has done and her continual push for the project has shown them that we are serious and has brought about this result."

McAnally added that "we had to show them (EMU) that we really meant this until finally, they were interested enough to invest money in the study and the project in general."

On more than one occasion Tuesday, Banks left the council chambers to try and reach one of the other council members so they would have a quorum, which requires four council members present. She was un-

The services will often be designed cooperatively with business and industry personnel and will usually focus on the design and implementation of programs in human resources development for a technology-based business and industry.

"This is a very exciting thing to have happening in the city," said McAnally after the meeting. "We seem to be growing in leaps and bounds, and it's great!"

Freak accident kills motorist

A 52-year-old Northville man was killed last Thursday evening in Romulus when a stop sign plunged through the windshield of his car as the result of a freak accident.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Westland Medical Center in Westland was James F. Peters.

According to police reports, Peters was travelling on Merriman Road a quarter mile southeast of Wickham at about 6:50 p.m., when an unidentified 22-year-old Westland man lost control of his car, striking the stop sign. The impact of the crash snapped off the sign, sending it airborne.

It apparently crashed through the windshield of Peters' car, striking him in the

"Add to that our drop in enrollment and we have 222 students less than we projected, and since the state pays us

Police detectives are continuing to question witnesses to the accident, and as of Monday, no charges had been brought against the Westland man, who was held overnight by police, following the accident, then released.

Allegedly, the young man had been drinking.

Jackson, who says that the 6.75-mill increase would "help us get out of the deficit situation, and allow us to restore our sixth hour classes at all of our schools."

Currently, only 25 percent — the legal limit to be eligible for state funds — of the students at Huron High School have sixth hour available to them. Jackson says he would like to see it open to everyone, including the elementary and junior high levels.

"If the millage continues to fail," says Jackson, "our only option in terms of state law other than consolidation will be to close down the schools when money runs out, which could mean existing on a week-to-week basis."

Sheila Page, a volunteer parent working on various school projects said that "in the past, I would have been against the increase, too. But, working with Mr. Jackson, seeing the

It was a birthday party to end all birthday parties, as senior citizens from Romulus Towers celebrated the 10th birthday of the Wingate Management Corporation, who run 16 other senior citizen housing developments, in addition to Romulus Towers. Residents from the other homes were invited as well. Mayor Beverly McAnally spoke to the gathering, as did Bill Simonds from the Romulus Chamber of Commerce. There were five door prizes, as well as a special prize given the Towers' oldest resident, Willis Ponfield, 96. Manager Jean Smith also reported that Della Gradhand, Verna Little and Ercell Sands, all over 90 years of age, received small birthday cakes. The longest married couple, Hubert and Margaret Gilbert, who tied the knot 57 years ago, received a small anniversary cake. Entertainment was provided by the Downriver Senior Citizens Band, and, according to Smith, "their performance was great!"

Huron to consolidate with Romulus?

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

If Huron Township voters repeat their actions of Dec. 8 and deny the school board's request for a 6.75-mill tax hike in a special election Monday, March 25, there may not be a Huron School District.

According to Superintendent of Schools Gary Jackson, if the millage is defeated again, the next order of business may be for the Huron schools to consolidate with another school system. Jackson added that if there was a consolidation, "Romulus would be the logical choice."

A committee already has been formed to study the feasibility of consolidating with another district, and Jackson reports that several communities have been approached about the possibility.

"We've been very fortunate in the past, in that our adult education programs have helped support other programs, but we just can't do that any-

$2,214 for each of them, that's a loss of $491,508."

The loss of students has the Huron district operating with "a huge deficit," according to actual figures, I can see the absolute need for the millage.

"And, if people think that consolidation is an easy way out, they'll be pretty surprised to learn that if we consolidated with Romulus we would actually be paying more money, and for what? Kids would have farther to go to get to school and the people would lose all local control. They would still have a vote, but if you put the number of votes in Huron against those in Romulus, it's easy to see how we could get lost in the numbers."

According to Page, some parents — herself included — are trying to "get more people involved. The biggest thing here we have to do is try and educate the public as to the facts. Some think there's been mismanagement of funds, but that isn't true at all. We just need the increase to continue."

The last time a millage increase passed in Huron Township was in 1979.

Jackson claims that "under no circumstances will any of the programs be cut, the board has made that clear. We will stick with quality education until the end. As long as our doors are open our kids are going to get the best education we can give them."

"What we're trying to do," said Jackson, "is prevent a crisis from happening. You put oil in the car as you go along, be-

You can help IRS

Do you like to help people? Then VITA may be just what you're looking for.

VITA — Volunteer Income Tax Assistance — is a program that uses volunteers from many walks of life to help taxpayers file their returns when they cannot afford professional tax assistance, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Volunteers from VITA, which is sponsored by the IRS, help lower income, elderly, handicapped and non-English speaking taxpayers. VITA volunteers explain the many special credits and deductions and how people may claim them on their tax returns. In fact, the volunteers will help individuals complete the return right down to any refund that may be due, the IRS said.

Who are these volunteers? People just like you — college students, law students, housewives, members of volunteer or community organizations, businessmen and women. You name it. The IRS provides VITA volunteers with free instruction and all training materials necessary to prepare basic income tax returns. An accounting background can be helpful, although it's not necessary, the IRS said. Training generally is conducted in December and January. Training is conducted at locations that are convenient for the instructors and volunteers, the IRS said.

Volunteers are also needed to help in other aspects of the VITA program, commented the IRS. Some volunteers organize sites, while others only do publicity for a site. IRS says, "If you've a skill and would like to help, VITA can find a way to involve you in the program."

VITA programs can be sponsored by local civic or fraternal organizations, educational institutions, churches and social groups.

Assistance generally is provided at schools, churches, libraries and other neighborhood locations.

If you or your organization want more information about starting a VITA program, contact the Taxpayer Education Coordinator at 1-800-424-1040, ext. 3674.

THIS IS THE YEAR ... for the Romulus Historical Society. Because 1985 marks the 150th birthday of Romulus as a community, you will be hearing from the Historical Society often during this sesquicentennial year. Current members of the board are Pearl Varner, president; Helen E. Hay, vice-president; Kenneth Krueger, secretary; Gloria Chandler, treasurer. The Historical Society is supported by the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, private donors, dues and membership fees.

A major function is to make people aware of and to preserve the historical sites in Romulus. Some of the sites which are recognized as such are the Merrill-Morris House at 13880 Huron River Drive, the Romulus Wesleyan Church at 37300

Goddard Road, the Gall Centennial Farm at 12124 Inks-ter Road, the Romulus Grange Hall at 36572 Goddard, the Samuel Tobyne First Settler Marker at 30617 Henry Ruff and the Ruth McBride-Miank Home at 11050 Merideth. The Historical Society is busily preparing for the May 19 Heritage Day ceremony to recognize yet another site.

The Historical Society collects printed material, museum material and other material objects illustrative of life and events of the past and present. These items are used for display in the showcases at the Public Library and help to paint the picture of the history of our city. Currently, the group is trying to locate old quilts to be donated or lent for the Sesquicentennial. They also hope to see many people wearing 1835 style clothing at Sesquicentennial Events this year. If you would like to submit a type-written family or business history, the society would love to have it.

The Historical Society wishes to meet with persons who are interested in history and especially the history of Romulus. Please attend their next meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 7 p.m. at the Public Library, 11121 Wayne Road.

Speaking of the library, drop in sometime and take a look at the historical items on display. Since you are so close, stop at the Mayor's office and take a gander at the 1860 Landholders Map on the north wall. While you are out, you might want to drive by some of our historical sites, there is history all around us.

LET'S TWIST AGAIN ... I want to know who came up with the idea of having a Dance Contest at the Mayor's Birthday Party this past Saturday. It was a Grade A decision. Though there weren't many who could Jitterbug, everyone could Twist. What fun! If you weren't there, you missed a great time. Don't fret, if you missed out, there are plans in store for more good times. Linda Choate will be having a St. Patrick's Day Dance at the Progressive Club on Saturday, March 16, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Again only $5 per person. Also, the Sesquicentennial Founders Day Dance will be Saturday, March 30. Same time, same place, same low price. At these prices, a person can afford to make it to all of the fund raising get togethers.

SPEND AN EVENING ... at the Mother-Son Valentine Dance, Tuesday, Feb. 12, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at North

Junior High on Wick Road. What better way is there to celebrate the Valentine season than to attend a dance with the special man or men in your life? There will be dancing, refreshments, a flower for mom and a special gift to remember the evening by. If mom can't attend, maybe grandma, an aunt or big sister can attend. If you have more than one son, the more the merrier. You can register at the Recreation Building between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. until Feb. 6. Already, 225 people have registered. The cost is only $3 for mom and her Valentine, or $4, if more than one son attends. Come on mom, spend an evening with your favorite little valentine.

Matter of health: Audit shows city is fiscally 'sound'

According to Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally, the word on the city audit which covers the period from June 30, 1983, to June 30, 1984, is very good.

"This is the best shape we've been in for some time," said McAnally, who also stated that she was "extremely happy with the results of the audit."

Done by the Certified Public Accounting firm of Doyle, Litt and Company, the report failed to find any major flaws in the financial running of the city, and had only a list of 12 comments and recommendations to make.

"In the past, there would be at least a dozen pages with 90 or so items pointing out faults. And, on some of the things they make recommendations about, we've already taken care of since the time of the original audit, which was June," McAnally said.

Some of the things pointed out by the CPA firm include better recording of cash receipts, a computer feasibility study ("we suggest the city consider the possibility of purchasing a small computer, which could perform a variety of functions and supplement both the current and the new system"), and maintaining minimum cash balances in city bank accounts.

On the other hand, the investment procedure used by the treasurer's office (which, at the time of this study, included nearly equal time by John Lewkowicz and former treasurer Beverly McAnally) was lauded and they "encouraged the continued use" of the combined investment concept the city uses.

Regarding accounting records and procedures — a sore spot in the past — the firm maintained that "the city has made excellent progress over the last four years in the status of accounting records and financial condition."

"We commend the city on its progress and advocate continued improvements."

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

Laura Wiltzie

Aggressive and tough is how they describe Romulus High's 5-foot-4 senior volleyball star, Laura Wiltzie, who has been the mainstay of the Eagles' offense. Laura is a "setter" who runs the offense and is the key of setting up the team's big hitters. "Although we are 8-6 on the season," noted coach Gail Coleman, "I could be worst without Laura in our line-up. She gives you 100 percent every time she's out there."

Bob O'Day

Moving into the starting line-up after his teammate was injured, 190-pounder Bob O'Day has helped the Romulus High wrestling team become one of the best in recent history. Bob has captured two gold medals at invitational and also was runner-up in two other tournaments. "He's only a junior," notes Coach Wayne Schimming, "and you can bet he's going to be one of the toughest wrestlers in Michigan next year, if he continues to progress."

Require attendance

The temporary closing of Kennedy Park in Romulus has apparently raised the dander of Recreation Director Debbie Dick who, in letters to the Romulus City Council and Mayor Beverly McAnally, has voiced her displeasure not so much with the decision of the city council but with the fact that the action was taken without consulting the recreation commission. The Romulus City Council voted unanimously to temporarily close Kennedy Park until ways to curb alleged illegal activities there can be determined. A lengthy discussion of the issue included the dismissal of two recommendations by the recreation commission. One would think that since the park issue was scheduled on the council meeting agenda, the director would have been present at the session if for no other reason than to see which of the commission's two recommendations was ratified (one would have moved the parking from Goddard Road to Ozga, the other would have banned all parking at Kennedy Park except for special occasions). But we don't fault Mrs. Dick entirely for her failure to be present at City Council meetings. Department heads are not required to attend council meetings in Romulus. In many other cities and townships department heads not only attend council and board meetings, but provide reports on their activities. Their presence gives the citizens in attendance an opportunity to question the police chief, the fire chief or the recreation director as to specific or general items of interest. For example, many residents of Romulus undoubtedly would make a trip to city hall if they thought they could directly ask the head of the city cable commission questions relating to the commission and an update on the wiring of the city for cable television. To require attendance of top officials at council meetings is, we feel, a good practice to maintain. Had Mrs. Dick or another representative of the recreation commission been present for input into the discussion of Kennedy Park, the matter may have been resolved differently. But the failure to have a representative at the meeting could be construed as an apparent lack of interest by recreation officials. We believe that department heads do care about the image of their department, but until they attend public meetings on a regular basis (kudos to building department head Dave Paul for doing just that), their absence will continue to appear as a sign of indifference.

Lower lake speeds

The speed limit on Belleville's Lake should be lowered from 55 to 40 miles per hour. Considering the congested conditions which exist on the lake, a 40 m.p.h. restriction does not seem out of line and would not diminish the popularity of the lake as a haven for boaters. Quite the contrary, a lower speed limit would enhance the image of Belleville Lake as a safe spot for outdoor recreation. The Department of Natural Resources was invited to hold public hearings on the issue following a tragic incident last summer in which two Van Buren Township residents were killed in a boating mishap. The DNR has proposed an administrative rule that would make it unlawful to operate a vessel in excess of 40 m.p.h. Such a rule will take effect with the concurrence of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees, a move we wholeheartedly endorse. Of course, lowering the speeds will not eliminate the dangers. Citizens also must get involved in the enforcement of the law and must be better trained in all aspects of safe boating. Citizens must be willing to take down the license numbers of rules' violators and sign a complaint. As one DNR official noted, boat safety training is a key. Of 57 persons killed in boating accidents in Michigan last year, only three had any safe boating training, according to law enforcement statistics. A lower speed limit, better enforcement and training will help make Belleville Lake as safe as possible.

Space invaders

"I need my own space, man," is a quote from the "hip" generation of the 60's. They were onto something, but the fact that most living beings, including humans and animals need a "personal zone" into which none are meant to penetrate without invitation wasn't and isn't new. Most thinking people are consciously aware of this reality but, every day, we read of violations of this human need more and the consequences. Bernhard Goetz, a passenger on a New York subway train reportedly had his space violated and now has been investigated by a grand jury for the attempted murder of four youths. While the grand jury refused to indict Goetz for murder, he has been charged with three weapons violations. Goetz was allegedly confronted by the four and was asked to relieve himself of $5 in a "threatening manner." The consequence was four wounded teenagers. A Central Michigan University co-ed has charged that a college fraternity president is guilty of rape. Her charges resulted in a 90-day jail sentence for Paul Bonaccinie, 23, of Birmingham and the suspension by the college of operations of Sigma Phi Epsilon, his fraternity, until the fall of 1987. Even our canine friend, King Boots, an old English Sheepdog who attacked the elderly Gertrude Monroe when she fell on him while he lay sleeping, has suffered consequences of his actions. He was de-fanged and neutered as a result of the tragic incident. Despite daily detailed reports of incidents and consequences of people violating the personal space of others, some still seem genuinely surprised when others take offense to such intrusions. They seem even more surprised when counter measures or negative sanctions are imposed. Their surprise always surprises me, considering it's all textbook stuff — you know, sociology 101. In physics, we learn that "for every action there is an equal and opposite reaction." Perhaps it is simply that we never consider our actions as sufficient cause for others' reactions. Last week the United States shuttle Discovery launched into permanent "parking orbit" over the Soviet Union a $300 million spy satellite that will intrude or invade the Soviet's space. This 2½ ton satellite will remain 22,300 miles out in space directly over the U.S.S.R. "monitoring Russian missile tests, and intercepting military and diplomatic communications." As the quest for information in the war of wills continues between the United States and Russia, both, with justification, point to the other as the culprit in the spy war. Their KGB versus our CIA, their military versus ours — all violators, all intruders, all guilty of much of what they are accused of. How nice it would be if all could respect the right and need for privacy of others. Even creatures in the jungle demand their private space — from the lion and his liar on down through the animal hierarchy. People who are brazen enough or insensitive enough to violate the rights of others are unfortunately in plentiful supply. They are the people who would go through your desk drawers without invitation "looking for something." Such folk enjoy reading things on your desk while talking to you, asking questions about matters which are clearly none of their business and engage in other manner of invasions of privacy.

Who plays God?
To the Editor:
As I write this, I wonder if I have already been poisoned by the toxic substances dumped in Augusta Township. How many times have I read about this sort of thing and been indifferent to it because it was not close? But now this time it is close — 3 miles is close. Who makes the decision to dump dangerous chemicals? Who plays God and says, "Dump those chemicals anywhere. Just get rid of them." Who can be so irresponsible and immoral? Who can make a decision that could affect so many lives and even future generations? How can people do this just for the sake of profit? Are there those among us who would destroy us for the sake of profit? Who are they? What kind of people are they? Where is their humanity? At least when people use guns and bombs to make war on each other, we know what their intent is — it is to kill people, clearly and simply. But what is the intent of those who dump toxic chemicals?

Eliminating waste
To the Editor:
The Board of Directors of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce is endorsing the Grace Commission recommendations for eliminating waste and inefficiency in the federal government. The Grace Commission, which was established by President Reagan in 1982, is formally known as the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control. The commission was chaired by J. Peter Grace, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of W.R. Grace and Company. The Commission conducted a comprehensive, two-year survey of the operation of the federal government in order to identify potential cost savings. Following the study, the Commission proposed 2,478 recommendations that would save $424.4 billion of taxpayers money over a three-year period. Because of its concern about the effect of the growing federal debt on the economy, the Board of Directors of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce believes that the implementation of the Grace Commission's recommendations is essential for the future well-being of our nation. In addition, the Wayne Chamber will join with the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce and Citizens Against Waste in a nation-wide effort to secure 50 million signatures on petitions protesting the waste of taxpayers' money by the federal government. The petitions will be presented early next year to the President and the Congress.

THE WAYNE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
Unfair to business

To the Editor:
I just received my 1984 Single Business Tax Return from my accountant. With all the hoopla recently in the newspapers about how fair the government of Michigan thinks this tax is, I just had to write to you and make you aware of the "real facts". Anytime a business must pay taxes, even if they actually lose money, by adding back such expenses as "labor costs" and "depreciation" costs, something is wrong with the system! I am thankful we at least didn't lose money in 1984. However, would you believe my tax bill for this "single" tax was 16.41% of our actual profits during 1984. When you pay all the other taxes and insurances for Workman's Compensation, MESC, Property and Personal Property Taxes, etc., it leaves very little, if any, to invest in new equipment upgrades, upgrading your building, etc., and why would you want to? The attitude I hear all the time is "why make money"? This tax is very unfair to the small businesses in Michigan and at a minimum needs re-vamping, so credits can be taken. Our business, for example, is so "labor intensive", it just doesn't enhance an attractive atmosphere for business in Michigan. Thank you for at least listening.

Of elephants, potatoes, automobiles and other assorted subjects:

King Boots, the Old English sheepdog accused of killing an 87-year-old woman, may have gotten off easy. That is, if one dares call Judge Edward Sosnick's order to have Boots neutered and defanged a light sentence.

At least Boots will live. "Murderous Mary" didn't fare as well in Erwin, Tenn. nearly 70 years ago. Mary was executed on Sept. 13, 1916 after being found guilty of killing a man. Donald McCurry of Wayne and a native of Erwin recently brought us a copy of the Erwin Record, a local newspaper, which featured a picture of the execution. There, in black and white, is a photo of Mary being hanged to death in public view. Seeing an elephant dangling in mid-air, with a crane apparatus wrapped around his neck must have shocked the local community.

Wonder if such an act of violence deterred other elephants from a life of crime?

It could only happen in the land of love ... San Francisco, Calif. A new release just arrived from the Potato Board, 55 Union St., San Francisco, announcing the seventh annual salute to America's favorite vegetable, the potato. February, you see, is Potato Lover's Month.

The Potato Board was kind enough to send along a copy of Paul McMahon's "Potato Jokes." Copyright 1984, which already has found a proper space on my bookshelf.

Here's a sampling of potato humor:
What do you call three potatoes at a baseball game?

Root, root, root for the home team.
Who is the potatoes' baseball hero?
Babe Root.

What do you say to an angry 300-pound potato?

Anything, just butter him up.
What is the french fries' favorite movie?
Grease.

What did the drill sergeant say at potato boot camp?

"Forward, starch!"

Look for Polish potato jokes to follow next year. At least we won't salute elephant humor in February.

Many arguments, both pro and con, have been heard recently regarding a proposed lowering of the speed limit on Belleville Lake from 55 to 40 m.p.h.

Whenever speed limits are debated, either on land or water, someone invariably will point out that many people disregard the posted limits anyway. They'll use such logic to support their contention that a higher limit will keep many from breaking the law.

Poppycock. Decisions cannot be based on suppositions and the rights of speeders. When in doubt, go with the lower speed limit, especially on Belleville Lake, allegedly a spot for pleasure boating and not racing.

Rex Wilhoite, the newest member of the Wayne-Westland Board of Education, has two chances of uniting the deadlocked school board — none and none.

For six weeks the school board could not agree on a replacement for James LeDuc, finally turning over the decision to the Wayne County Intermediate School Board.

leads one to question whether any of them are qualified to perform the functions they were chosen for.

The situation has become so ridiculous that it may not be out of line to suggest that it might be wise to form still another school board to resolve the problems of both the Wayne County Intermediate District School Board and the Wayne-Westland School Board.

Wilhoite, a Farmington Hills businessman, would have a better shot of successfully concluding the U.S.-Soviet arms talks than getting the six school members to agree on anything substantial. Politics also can be a devastating weapon.

Prediction: the issue of public versus private ownership of PCHA hospitals, including Annapolis and Beyer, will prove one of the hottest topics of 1985.

The PCHA board of directors recently rejected 27-10 a resolution that would have invited purchase offers. That vote, however, has not stopped former executive director Ken Gremore from promoting a sale of PCHA facilities to the Hospital Corporation of America, based in Tennessee.

Elected officials from the 24-member communities of PCHA continue to be flown down to HCA corporate headquarters to get a first-hand look at a for-profit corporation in action.

Where will Saturn, General Motors' latest automotive venture, be located?

Apparently, just about every state in the union is sending in its heavy hitters to woo GM execs.

As more and more elected officials hold press conferences, the more it appears that the Saturn project has become a political football. Whoever lands this Saturn will have devised an effective real estate, demographic and economic package. It will be awarded on merit, not grandstanding ability.

The best site, not politician, will win the prize. Hopefully after all the tax abatements and concessions the prize still will be worth something.

Bernhard Goetz, it would appear, is repentant. Who knows what would happen if he were similarly confronted on a subway in the future.

Paul Bonaccinie doesn't appear to be the least bit repentant and, from newspaper accounts, it would appear he remains confrontational.

King Boots has been found guilty and has paid a dear price for his deeds.

It would appear that we have the Russians' attention as a result of our "fire with fire" Reagan stance.

Who knows, maybe one day Russia will once again be a country that we can be civil to and perhaps even allies with. That can only happen when they come to understand and accept that all need their own zone or space that should not be intruded upon without invitation and that to do so will result in consequences.

See you next week.

In my experience, such folks are often, but not always, a little too quick to tell you about their personal business — more than you ever wanted to know. They tend to make your business their business and their business your business, like it or not. We probably all have been guilty at one time or another, in one way or another, but some make a career of it.

Sometimes the intruders are touchers. The most friendly form of communication between two living creatures can be the art of touching as a sign of friendship, admiration or affection, a hand shake, a pat on the back or a hand on the shoulder. The most overt sign of aggression in a hostile confrontation situation, however, is also the physical act of touching when it obviously is not welcomed or invited.

Sexual harassment suits are filed, fist fights erupt and weapons are fired as a result of unwelcomed physical contact.

When one's space is deliberately and premeditatedly invaded by others for harmful, hurtful or invalid reasons, then counter measures are in order.

Too often, we foolishly think that laying down before tyranny buys us peace and security, but find in time that we have erred. On the international scene, it is evident to me that weakness is no deterrent to aggression. Only strong defenses or appropriate counter measures such as our new spy satellite will act as a deterrent to future aggressive violations of our rights.

Unfortunately, once a track has been established, it is difficult if not impossible to demonstrate a behavior modification. "The best gauge of future performance is past performance," we learn early in life.

Once a pattern of confrontation has been established, any and all acts are seen as evidence of hostility, which is rarely accurate, but the consequence of previous transgressions.

CITY OF ROMULUS

DOG LICENSE

All dogs in the City of Romulus must be licensed. This is for your benefit. If your family pet ever slips its leash, this policy could keep your child from being heartbroken. Also, if you are bitten, knowing that the dog is licensed and has had rabies shots can save you from worrying about a painful series of inoculations. The law was designed to benefit all City residents, whether or not they own dogs.

A City dog license costs $5.00 for both male and female dogs. Licenses for spayed and neutered dogs cost only $1.50. A lower license fee for these dogs is intended to help control the rise in the canine population. Senior citizens (age 65 or older) pay only $2.50 or $7.75 per license. Proof of rabies vaccination must be presented when applying for a new dog license or renewal. March 1st of every year is the deadline for license renewal. A late fee of $1.50, in addition to the regular fee will be charged after that date.

TO LICENSE YOUR DOG

Bring a rabies vaccination certificate and an affidavit or Veterinary Certificate for spayed female or neutered male dogs, as well as proof of your age, if you qualify for the senior citizen discount, to:

Office of the City Treasurer
Romulus Municipal Building
11111 Wayne Road
Romulus, Michigan

between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. — Monday through Friday. A license will be issued to you at that time. The license tag must be worn by the animal at all times, attached by a collar of leather, iron, copper, brass or other durable material. Puppies must be licensed when they reach six months of age.

PENALTIES

Any person not adhering to any of the regulations outlined in this letter will be in violation of the provisions of the City's Animal Control Ordinance.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION:

Please call the Romulus Animal Control Center at 941-0666, Ext. 245, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. For emergencies after hours, call the Romulus Police Department 941-8400. The Animal Control Center will respond to all calls reporting licensed and unlicensed dogs running loose, injured animals, dead animals, dangerous dogs and excessive barking dogs.

Huron High handbook handles how-to's

When parents, looking at the Huron High School Handbook, ask Principal William Harrison "Why all these rules?," he answers that "before education can properly take place, a positive environment for education needs to be established.

"Good school discipline is an essential item for proper school environment," Harrison stated, adding that "before you can establish good discipline you need to inform your populace of the 'Do's and Don'ts' of the school."

Although the student handbook is not a new idea, it has been revised and updated yearly.

"One of the problems we have," said Shirley Clark, Harrison's secretary, "is that some of the kids just throw the handbooks away as fast as they get them, and we feel the information is important to get out to the parents."

1. Students are expected to accept the responsibility of seeing that they are scheduled for required classes and to involve their parents in the scheduling process.

2. Students are expected to attend all classes on any day they are present in the building. No student is to be in an unauthorized or unassigned area of the building or grounds (as per building policy).

3. Students are expected to be in assigned classes at designated times. Entering a class after the two-minute limit with out a pass will be considered a skip. Three tardies in any one class per semester will constitute a skip.

4. Students are expected to remain in class unless released by their teacher.

5. Students are expected to be properly prepared for class.

6. Students are expected to work at the level of their ability and to participate in class learning activities as defined by their teacher.

7. Students are expected to give consideration and respect to teachers' opinions and to the opinions of other students.

8. Students are responsible for completing make-up work and tests within three school days after being absent. Under extenuating circumstances, the teacher and student shall make mutual arrangements to complete make-up work and tests at the end of the school day.

9. Students are expected to be courteous and to respect each person's right to an education. Students are not to use profane or vulgar language or any type of obscene gestures toward other students.

10. Students are expected to eat and drink in the cafeteria only. Glass containers (pop bottles) are prohibited in school.

11. Students are expected to exercise good judgment in their public display of affections. (No undue familiarity.)

12. Students are expected to leave portable radios and electronic games at home.

13. Students are expected to care for and preserve school and private property.

According to a memo from Harrison, the "Student Expectation" code (as it has been dubbed) can be basically broken down into good old-fashioned common sense.

"I feel the rules are both fair and just," said Harrison. "Parental cooperation is needed to establish this positive learning environment that's so vital.

"I just hope that parents take the time to go over the rules with their children, and discuss their feelings about them."

'Death of a Salesman'--compelling drama

By RUSS OGDEN
Special to ANP

Ignoring blustering, snow-laden winds and chilly temperatures, a dramatic evening materialized at the John Glenn High School theatre as the Spotlight Players warmed patrons with a fine theatrical performance.

Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman," celebrating its 36th birthday on Feb. 11, was presented by a cast who could well compete with other community theatres in their zest and earnest endeavor with such a fine but challenging production of the American theatre.

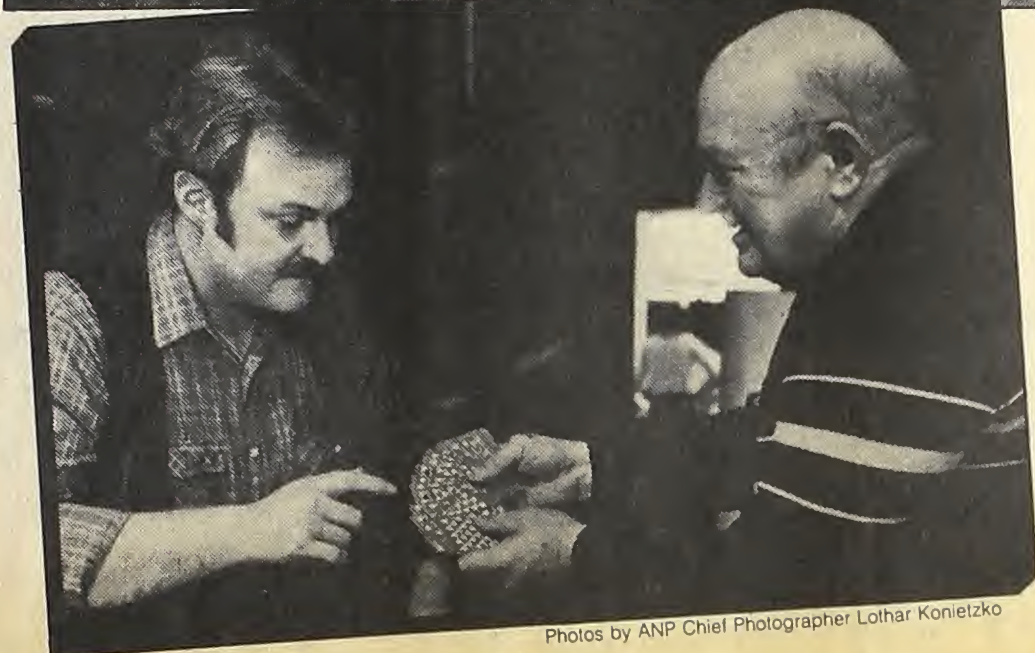

Certainly helping the actors in their dramatic treatises was a magnificent set — certainly unusual in any amateur/community theatre — created and provided by John Eastman and associates.

Willy Loman is a salesman who has lived on dreams and fantasies his entire life. He is supported by a loyal, loving wife: one who was cognizant of his frailties, faults. His sons are Biff — the All-American high school football player and the apple of his father's eye — and Hap, a carbon copy of the defeated father.

The play's time is in the late 20s and 30s, but we are present in Willy's 61st year. In the Requiem, Lindsay (Willy's Wife) often repeats: "I can't understand it." "But where are all the people he knew?" And at Willy Loman's graveside his loyal wife, two sons, and best friend bemoan a fictional life that a less than great salesman led.

But in one of Miller's ironies, he has the loyal friend, Charley (rejected personally many times by Willy) saying to Biff: "Willy was a salesman ... He's the man out there riding on a smile and a shoeshine ... A salesman has got to dream, boy. It comes with the territory."

For a local community theatre such as the Spotlight Players to have the thespianic guts to tackle such a brilliantly penned, award-winning drama is absolute bravery. To see the Spotlight Players come through with a totally acceptable production is a happening ... a proper happening for the beginning of their 26th year of existence.

"Death of a Salesman" has its comedic moments, but is really stark drama. The Salesman, Willy, must be a man with broad shoulders. Director John Eastman does indeed have such a Willy Loman in the person of Ralph Alan Day. To only memorize the lines demanded of him, Day should have received plaudits. But Day injects his role with a bluster, sometimes obnoxious, sometimes loving interpretation of the salesman who is on his way down from his self-imagined successes that might have been. From Day's initial entrance he sets the tone for the play, not once dramatically migrating from "living the role" during the entire evening.

Equally effective is David Rago as Biff Loman. The real highlights of the evening are when he and Willy are interacting. Although he and Happy fail to give forth the needed dramatic sparks in the early first act, this relationship eventually does develop in the second act. David Rago is indeed a most promising young man dramatically and his capturing the believable son, Biff, is pure delight.

To miss Rago as Biff Loman and Day as Willy would be to miss what will probably be the highlight of 1985 for the Spotlight Players.

How one person with very few lines can set a character tone and maintain it in less than 20 spoken lines is accomplished admirably by a not-to-be-forgotten voice of Joseph Haynes. His appearance from the "past," constantly reminding Willy of "things that might have been," proves memorable and Haynes in this brief role is absolutely perfection.

Contributing to this evening of enjoyment are featured performers: Vicki L. Cravens, Tobin A. Hissong, Jim Weidig, Charles H. Slagle, David D. Brown, Tarayann R. Huyser, Patti Jones, Kim Capen, Brian Barnum, and Mary Jo Cobello.

You will miss an exciting evening of community theatre if you do not see "Death of a Salesman" at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the John Glenn High School Auditorium. Phone information may be had by calling 729-MIKE. Tickets are available for all evenings.

Action!

The Spotlight Players' production of "Death of a Salesman" exhibits a dramatic flair that brings Arthur Miller's script to life. Getting involved in the action are Alan Day (above left), Tobin Hissong, David Rago, Joe Haynes and Vicki Cravens. In another scene Day, cast as Willy Loman, gets a lesson in playing cards from Jim Weidig. The play continues at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the John Glenn High School Auditorium.

Schools offer tots program

The Airport Community Schools' Chapter I Program is planning a Chapter I Preschool Program, scheduled for this fall.

The program will be open to youngsters who are 4 years old on or before Dec. 1, 1985. Children will attend either two or three days per week in half-day sessions. Transportation will be provided.

For further information on registering youngsters for the program call 654-2121.

'Harvey' opens at Museum Theater

"Harvey," Mary Chae's 1944 hit comedy about Elwood P. Dowd and his 6-foot tall, invisible rabbit, is the first offering of the 1985 season at Henry Ford Museum Theater, running Feb. 1 through March 16.

Dowd, a slightly inebriated philosopher with irresistible charm, is greatly influenced by his close friend Harvey, the giant rabbit who is invisible to all by but Elwood.

Elwood is the bane of his society-minded sister, Vita Louise, who tries to have her brother committed to avoid the embarrassment of his zany behavior. Her efforts end with her own lockup, as Elwood and Harvey prevail. Their whimsy is contagious, even to the audience.

Opening on Broadway in 1944, "Harvey" ran 1,775 performances before being released for stage tours, the movies and later television. James Stewart, who had appeared in a stage version, starred in the 1950 film of "Harvey."

Performances are at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays. Tickets are $5.50 each for reserved seats, available daily through the Information Desk in the entrance to Greenfield Village, at the Museum Theater box office one hour prior to each performance, or by calling Reservations Center, 271-1620. A combination dinner theater package is priced at $18.25 per person.

A spot of hope

Training program aims at unemployed, unskilled

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Special Writer

Twelve Western Wayne County communities, will receive for the first time the opportunity to participate in a Machinist Training Institute program.

Sponsored by Focus: Hope, an outreach organization that, in addition to providing food programs for the poor, offers training for the unskilled or unemployed worker.

It is, in addition to other programs offered through the city and by the state, one more opportunity to provide help to unemployed residents, according to Focus: Hope officials.

At least 25 of the 55 openings now available for machinist training will be allocated for Inkster residents, according to James Banks, Personnel and Special Services Director in Inkster who estimates a need, within the next five to 10 years' for thousands of skilled machinists.

Residents of Belleville, Canton Township, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Hamtramck, Livonia, Redford Township, Romulus, Warren and Westland will be participating, along with Inkster, for the first time.

"This opportunity is for here and now," Banks said.

Beginning Feb. 18 and continuing for eight months, free training in precision machining will be taught by master craftsmen, most of whom are former machinists who pass on their skills and training to their students, said one spokeswoman from Focus: Hope.

While in training, students learn shop theory, shop math, blueprint reading, set up and operation of lathes, mills and grinders, according to one brochure.

Certain criteria — students must show low income, be at least 22 years old and demonstrate good mechanical aptitude and math skills — before they can qualify, Banks said.

A high school diploma is not a pre-requisite to entry into the program and there is even tutoring provided for those who place marginally on the tests but now ell enough to gain entry.

A series of exams will be given to each prospective applicant' one to be administered by Focus: Hope personnel at city hall and another, more extensive one to be given at Focus: Hope facilities.

Applicants will be required to undergo a drug and alcohol screening test to insure that safety for the individual and proper use of machinery will be followed.

"We're hoping to develop a list of 300-400 people because this is going to be an ongoing program," Banks said.

Since 1981, there have been 10 graduating classes for machinist training and the prospects for continuing the service is excellent, according to Charles Grenwill, Director of Resources for Focus: Hope.

Because of funding provided by the Wayne County Private Industry Corporation, Inkster, as well as the 11 other communities, are able to participate for the first time in a program previously opened only to Detroit residents.

"We think," Grenwill said, "it's the beginning of a lot more outreach into these communities."

Class size runs about 30 per term. Remaining students will be placed in succeeding classes in mid-March.

Once accepted into the program, students must undergo a rigorous training schedule that among other things, includes 40 hours per week of training from 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

This schedule, according to Grenwill, is what deters many students from completing the course.

Many applicants, he explained, have no job and jump into a 40-hour-a-week position of constant training, with no pay, for eight months.

But the benefits, should a person continue for the full term, far outweigh the tiresome routine, he said.

Responding to a need for machinists (he estimates 250,000 openings by 1990) the program is geared to provide Southeast Michigan with the numbers to overcome the shorttage now felt.

Machining is the bedrock industry of the U.S., he said, and Southeast Michigan is the largest producer of metalwork in the U.S.

The shortage of machine workers, brought on by the declining number of new students in the trade and the increasing age of those who trained decades earlier and are now nearing retirement, is felt most in this area.

Literally thousands, Grenwill said, of tool and die shops, operated by men averaging 58 years of age, can be found in Michigan.

The numbers of men trained in the old-style tradition of the craft are slowly declining to the point where an enormous gap is forming.

This means, Grenwill said, that those training now as machinists are "practically speaking, assured a job."

Skilled machinist pay starts at approximately $6 per hour and within two years can increase to $8.50 to $9 per hour.

Top rate, after five to 10 years, can be anywhere from $14 to $16 per hour — not a bad beginning for those who were once unskilled, Grenwill said.

And the opportunity for advancement within the industry doesn't end with Focus: Hope's training.

Often, he said, individuals, once trained, move on to better paying positions within the industry or even, as in the case of five students, utilize scholarships offered by institutions such as Lawrence Institute of Technology and train for careers in engineering or related fields.

To further prove the access to jobs, once training is over (Focus: Hope helps place students in the industry. Their success rate stands at about 90 percent placement) Grenwill said often, industry representatives tour a class and approach students with a job offer even before they graduate.

According to Banks, the opportunity is too great to pass up.

"I look at the future," he said. "Skilled trades is an area where minorities have not had much entry — I see this as having a lot of long-range applications."

The deadline for applying is Feb. 1 at the Inkster City Hall.

Positions are available for both men and women who satisfy the requirements.

For more information, call the city of Inkster at 563-4100.

EJT adds to job program

Extension Job Training (EJT) is currently expanding its services to the unemployed, with training available in the field of horticulture and a new training program for handicapped young adults and special education students. EJT also is operating a referral center for services to the unemployed throughout southeast Michigan.

There are 90 openings for training in the programs offered at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, located at 5454 Venoy Road, Wayne. All of the training is free to those who are eligible. The training is designed for each individual's needs and includes job placement assistance upon completion.

EJT trainees receive training and guidance in career planning. Employment proficiency skills are developed, which includes resume writing, interviewing and application techniques. Practical living skills are offered as well, and counseling is available throughout.

Participants in the horticulture training program receive vocational knowledge and experience in 13 areas to prepare for entry-level jobs. Intensive classes also are available in greenhouse management, landscaping, pest control and vegetable and fruit production.

Director Gary Greenwell pointed out that "Wayne County has the largest greenhouse and turf production output in the state. MESC data indicates the number of job openings in this field were more than 12 times greater than the number of qualified applicants. At present, the program has more demand from employers than we have trainees who are ready for placement."

The new handicap program provides a variety of training opportunities. When participants are ready for placement, the program places them into on-the-job training positions. The employer receives a subsidy of up to half of the trainee's wages to complete vocational training for a minimum period of four weeks. At the end of this period, the trainee will become a permanent employee.

Handicap has a broad definition for this program, Greenwell noted. It may include learning disabilities, health problems, drug abuse, probation or parole and a number of other possibilities.

Administrative assistant Judy Pelkey added that "our program has enjoyed excellent success placing handicapped young adults into well-paying, long-term employment."

Extension Job Training is operating an Information and Referral Center for the local Private Industry Corporation. Applicants of all ages may call or visit the center to learn about all of the employment training services and opportunities available to them.

While the referral service is for all ages, EJT training is available only for young adults age 16 to 21 who live in Western Wayne County (not including Detroit and the Downriver communities). Information Management Coordinator Debra

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By
Dr. Thomas
Anderson

OSTEOPOROSIS

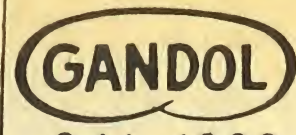

This serious bone-thinning condition affects 20 million, mostly women, and mostly age 45 and older. "Brittle bones" are responsible for at least 1.3 million fractures yearly in this age group.

Continued loss of mass weakens spinal bones. They become compressed and gradually collapse. A minor fall can bring on a broken hip or wrist. Vertebrae sometimes fracture spontaneously during routine activities such as bending, lifting or rising from chair to bed.

Treatment usually calls for mineral supplements, especially calcium, to nourish your bones. Individually recommended exercises help strengthen and increase bone mass. Regular chiropractic adjustments to your spinal column help keep vertebrae in proper alignment.

LESSOR IS IN VIOLATION OF LEASE!!

Dear Letter Writer:

My wife and I operate a computer software business. In the middle of October, 1983, we leased office space at a mall in our home town. The lease specifically stated that we were protected from the owner renting space in the same mall to a business that was in competition with us. Well, a couple of months after we moved in, so did a business that was essentially doing the same thing as we were — selling computer accoutrements. We want to get out of the lease so we can move to a location where we don't have direct competition right in our noses. Is there anything you can do to help us.

Sincerely, CC

Dear Landlord:

Please accept this letter as notification of our intention to withdraw from the lease presently signed and executed between us and your company and vacate the premises covered on Feb. 1, 1984.

The conditions of the Lease specifically preclude you, the Lessor, from leasing any premises in the mall to any individual or business engaged in an operation that competes with our company.

On or about the middle of October, 1983, a new business moved into the mall and immediately began the operation of a retail business that is in direct competition with us.

On or about the middle of October, 1983, the principals of our company contacted the rental agent of your company and informed him that there was a conflict in the terms of the lease at issue.

As of the date of this writing, the principals of our company have received no communication, either written or verbal, as to the intention of your company to remedy this conflict.

Should you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Please make this letter a part of our company file presently in your possession.

Sincerely CC

RESOLUTION: The Landlord

agreed that they were in violation of the lease and sought to make amends. The CC company, however, shopped around and found a location more to their liking and solved the problem by moving. Having spoken recently to the CC company, I found out that there new location was far better and they were glad that events transpired the way that they did. This landlord acted reasonably. Had the CC company not been able to relocate, they probably would have been faced with legal action.

BPW hosts Young Career Woman at meeting

The new year was welcomed into being at the Jan. 7 meeting of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club.

The dinner tables were decorated with confetti, serpentine, noisemakers and red, white and blue streamers and flowers.

The program centered around the Young Career Woman project. This project is held annually at the local, district, state and national levels. The purpose is to seek out and honor young women who have prepared and are working in their chosen field.

At the meeting were two participants — Linda Maton and Rosemary Knowles. Each of the young women gave a brief talk on where they have been, where they are now, and where they intend to go in the future with their chosen professions.

Maton is employed by the University of Michigan and Knowles is employed by Wayne County Community College, Belleville branch.

The three judges interviewed each participant prior to the meeting and rendered their decision after the young women spoke. Rosemary Knowles was selected to represent the Belleville BPW at the district meeting in April. She will compete with seven other women for an opportunity to move on to state participation in May.

The Young Careerist Committee that handled this project was Ann Pavelka, Chair; Sandy Butler, Evelyn Griffith, Sharon Russell and Valerie Higgins.

Other business conducted was the selection of President Sophie Zoller to attend the Michigan Women's Hall of Fame Banquet to be held at the Fairlane Manor, in Dearborn. She will accompany Marie Roberts, Belleville BPW charter member.

All members are invited to the International Weekend in Windsor, Canada, Feb. 23. The Windsor BPW invited their American cousins for a social weekend at the Holiday Inn on the Detroit River.

The Belleville BPW will host the District XIII meeting April 14 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wayne. A strawberry theme will be used.

Carole Sampson presented a choice of two social outings being planned for the Club in the near future. One is an all-day trip to Windsor to visit the Hiram Walker Mansion, the Jack Miner's Bird Sanctuary, Colasanti's Tropical Gardens and lunch at the Pier in Amherstburg. The other outing would be the dinner-theatre at the Westgate Mall in Toledo, Ohio.

Several guests were present at the dinner meeting and the total program was video taped by Omnicom, with the telecast date to be announced.

ADK holds 1st meeting of 1985

On Tuesday, Jan. 8, the ADK held its first meeting of 1985. The meeting was held at Savage School. Patsy Pyshnck, Mona Salisbury and Nancy Steiger were hostesses, serving fruit and cookies and tea.

Mary Ann Winter spoke on the subject "Gifted and Talented." She provided some interesting information.

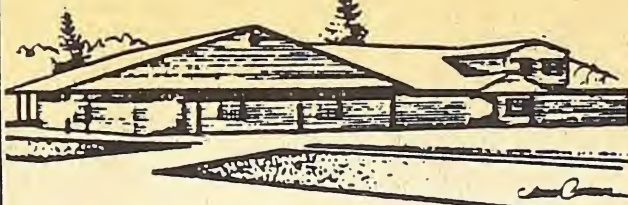

A short business meeting ended the meeting.

Rockets roar back

Glenn edges Thurston; tied for first

By KEITH A. DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

Every championship team has its share of heroes... the Detroit Tigers have Kirk Gibson and Alan Trammell, the San Francisco 49ers have Joe Montana and Roger Craig, the Boston Celtics have Larry Bird and Kevin McHale.

So, too, do the Rockets of Westland John Glenn. Last year, during their championship season, players like Mike Baydarian, Jeff Hawley and Mario Grazulis wore the hero's crown.

Friday night at Redford Thurston, it was no different as the Rockets came up with a "hero per quarter" who led them to a 71-63 victory over the Eagles.

"We played a good man-to-man defense," said Gordie Davis whose last three teams have claimed conference titles and produced numerous heroes. "The kids did a nice job of playing defense and hitting the offensive boards. Hawley made three or four key steals and Diette-Spiff led with 15 rebounds."

The victory gave the Rockets a 4-1 league record, and coupled with Garden City's win over Redford Union, kept them in a first place tie with the Cougars.

Mike Baydarian, Glenn's 5-11

senior point guard who is averaging 19 points per game, was the hero of the first quarter as the Rockets got off to an 18-10 lead. The first part of the period was fairly even until Baydarian took charge. A steal and a lay-up at the 2:17 mark gave the Rockets a 12-10 lead and they later expanded that to 16-10 on a pair of Baydarian free throws. The Rocket captain completed his opening heroics with a shot at the buzzer that swished through the nets.

"It's good to see Mike playing well again," said Davis of his guard.

The Rockets built the lead to 22-10 early in the second quarter thanks to a fine play from Steve Hawley to Dave Jensen.

But Thurston responded to the challenge with a 8-point run that cut the lead to 22-18 with 4:51 left. Brian Wojkowski (Sr., 6-3, 190) hit a pair of baskets, Jeff Frelich (Sr., 6-1, 175) and Don Valley (Jr., 5-10, 160) combined for one apiece and the Eagles had whittled the lead to just four points.

Gerry Diette Spiff, who had a great game on both ends of the floor, hit a pair of free throws with 3:30 left to restore a three-point lead, 24-21. But the Eagles kept pushing it as sharp-shooting Scott Filipiak (Sr., 5-9, 140) hit a bucket and two free throws in the final two minutes to give them a 31-29 lead.

Tony Sokol (Jr., 6-3, 175) hit a basket with 15 seconds remaining to give the Eagles a 35-33 half-time lead.

"They were running their offensive patterns real well," said Davis of Thurston's comeback. "We weren't finishing off our offensive rebounds. When we went back to man-to-man, it was more effective."

The third quarter was more of the same with neither team able to forge more than a two-point bulge on the other.

A portent of things to come arrived in the form of a third personal foul being whistled on Sokol. When Eagles' first-year head coach Mike Schuette set him down, the Rockets were able to move a little more freely underneath the hoop.

But the Rockets didn't quite shake the Eagles — at least not yet. After a Baydarian free throw gave Glenn a 41-40 lead, the Eagles tied it at 44-44 on a Wojkowski hoop, took the lead at 46-44 on a Frelich basket, and again at 48-46 on a Valley shot.

But the heroes for Glenn began to emerge. Hawley great hustle when he picked off an errant Eagle pass and drove to the hoop to tie it at 48-48. A few seconds later, Hawley was fouled and hit both ends for a 50-48 lead.

With no time left, Diette-Spiff hit two more free throws that gave the Rockets a 52-48 lead, one that brought to mind, the immortal words of Don Meredith, "Turn out the lights, the party's over."

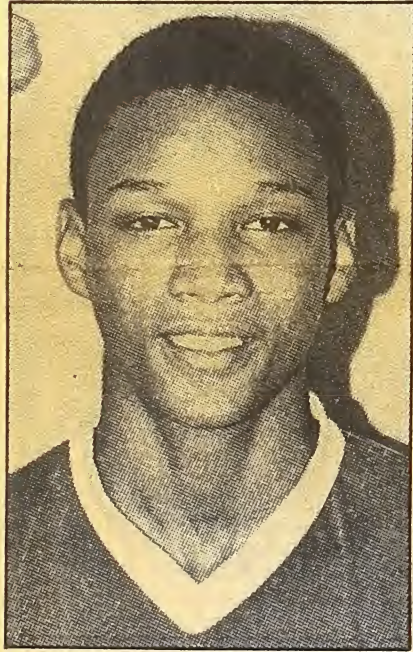

The Rockets continued to build that lead and everyone contributed. Ron Taig's free throws and, probably the highlight of the evening, Diette-Spiff's slam dunk that put the Rockets ahead 63-48 and sent the Rocket fans into ecstasy.

"We got a lot of our baskets off the defense," Davis said.

Back on winning track

After losing a 41-38 decision to Garden City and handing over a share of the Northwest Suburban Conference lead to the winners, Westland John Glenn got back on the right track Friday night with a 71-63 victory over Thurston. Above Glenn's Steve Hawley (22) hugs the baseline, with the help of a Cougar knee.

Terry Mills

Romulus' Terry Mills is too much for Belleville

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville coach Leon Birdyshaw can give you 24 reasons why he believes that Romulus High's 6-9 pivotman Terry Mills is among the best high school players on the scene today.

Mills scored 24 points, hauled down a dozen rebounds and slapped away a handful of Belleville shots to lead the Eagles to a lopsided 89-46 victory in a rare Saturday night game.

"Terry is just one outstanding player," Birdyshaw said. "We couldn't stop him. And the frightful thing about all of this is that he's just a junior and will be back a year from now."

Not only did Mills hurt the Tigers inside but outside and was a threat at both ends of the court. And, while the Tigers kept their eyes glued to the 6-9 center, Romulus's 6-3 guard, Stevie Glenn also enjoyed a field day as he drilled in nine baskets and made five of seven at the foul line for 23 points.

Coach Al Wilkerson's line-up included two others in double figures. Avery Jones contributed 12 points and Juan Street added 10. Belleville got 16 points from guard Chris Gratham who sank five from the field and slipped in six of nine at the foul line.

"However, I have to give our kids a lot of credit," Birdyshaw offered. "When you fall behind as we did you have a tendency to quit. Our kids continued to play

Inkster escapes Ecorse with 79-76 victory

By Tom Mooradian
ANP Staff Writer

Usually when you're blowing a team off the hardwood by 18 to 22 points you can take it easy and relax. Right?

Wrong. Just ask Inkster Coach George Thompson Jr. whose Vikings leaped to a 22-13 advantage over host, Ecorse, and racked up a 48-29 margin at halftime before they were forced into a battle for survival before pulling out a 79-76 decision over the Red Raiders. "We had decided that we had already won the game," said Thompson afterwards, "and we went out there in the second half and watched Ecorse do a job on us. They (Ecorse) didn't stop." In fact, thanks to Eric Frison's eight points, Ecorse outscored the Vikings by 15 in the third period and came within four points (60-56) of catching up. They never did, however, and the local cagers can thank Sherard Lloyd and Anthony White for that.

Lloyd, named "Prep of the Week" by The Detroit Free Press came up with one of his best over-all performances of the season as he tossed in 13 field goals and made one of four at the free throw line for a game-high 27 points. White accounted for 17 points as did William Springer.

Springer, moreover, came up with some game-saving steals as he picked off two errant passes and took them in for easy layups in the closing minutes of the game to seal the victory.

"He (Springer) kept us going," Thompson commented.

"To Ecorse's credit, they didn't quit when they fell behind by nearly 20 points."

Inkster continues to own sole possession of first place in the tough Suburban Athletic Conference. The Vikings are 4-0 in SAC play and 6-1 over-all on the year. Their scheduled SAC game with Willow Run on Friday was canceled due to the inclement weather and will be rescheduled later in the season, according to Thompson.

Because of repairs to the Inkster High gym, last week's home games were switched to the rivals' courts. Tuesday night's confrontation with Taylor Truman was switched from the high school to the Inkster Recreation Center.

On Friday the Vikings will travel to River Rouge to begin the second round of SAC competition.

Duel under the boards

Inkster's Shawn Lloyd (white jersey) battles a Ypsi Lincoln cager for possession of this rebound in a game staged earlier this season. The Vikings came away with a lopsided victory over Ypsi and have now amassed a 6-1 over-all and an untarnished 4-0 Suburban Athletic Conference record. Their showdown with Willow Run last Friday was put on hold by inclement weather.

Wayne to host Western Wayne swim-diving championship

Some of the top area high school teams and swimmers will compete for the 1985 Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championships this weekend when the annual invitational is staged at Wayne Memorial High School.

Wayne, the defending champ, is expected to receive plenty of pressure from neighboring Westland John Glenn and Livonia Franklin in the race for the title, according to Wayne coach, Jim McPartlin.

"From the preliminary records, it appears that these three teams have the best times and records," said McPartlin whose Zebras have amassed a 6-1 won-lost record thus far. "But you never know what will happen when you get so many teams together."

Also in the field will be representatives from Wyandotte, Woodhaven, Redford Thurston, Allen Park, and Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

The 11-event program is scheduled to get underway 12:30 p.m. Friday with the diving preliminaries. The prelims for the swimming events will start at 4 p.m.

On Saturday, at 1 p.m. the finals will be held, again at Wayne Memorial's facilities.

There is a $1 admission charge for the preliminaries and a $1.50 charge for the finals on Saturday.

In the meantime, Wayne outswam Trenton 92-82 as the Zebras picked up six of the 11 events. Wayne had a pair of double-event winners in Kevin Martin and Keith Head.

Martin turned in a 1:54.2 in winning the 200-yard free-style, then he came back for his second victory, churning a 5:06.5 for the 500-yard freestyle.

Head won the 200-yard individual medley with a 2:11.6 and placed first in the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:05.0.

McPartlin also received some outstanding efforts from his underclassmen. Sophomore Bob Henson was clocked in 5:37.8 for a third place finish in the 500-yard freestyle, and David Graham had a 2:15.0 performance for his efforts in the 200-yard individual medley. He also carded a 1:03 for the backstroke.

John Sharnetsky's 23.5 gave Wayne a second place for the 50-yard freestyle.

Trenton's state title contender in diving, Chris Creig, displayed winning form on the boards as he piled up 262.5 points for his victory.

"It was a good victory for us," McPartlin said. "It kept us in contention for the title in our league."

Glenn gymnast qualifies for regional

When Westland John Glenn hosts the Class A regional girls' gymnastics competition in March local fans will have at least one contender in the field.

She's Jamie Koestner who assured herself of a berth by scoring 8.25 in vault in a dual meet held last week at North Farmington. Koestner score in the vault placed her fourth, however, in the event against the Farmington gymnasts who are considered among the best in the state.

In order to qualify for the regionals, a gymnast must score 7.7 (out of a possible 10) at least four times during the regular season.

The Westlanders dropped a 127-107.55 decision to the Farmington team which is undefeated thus far. It was the Rockets' second setback in five starts.

Other Glenn standouts included Lisa Svitkovich who was awarded a 7.6 in the balance beam.
